

It's not just people that are harmed in crashes.

Is your business safe?

If you have a sales team, regional managers, service engineers, delivery drivers or even staff using their own cars for business journeys – we can help!

Driving is widely recognised as one of the highest risk work-related activities that most employees will ever undertake. Managing this risk is essential in order to protect your employees and other road users from harm, to fulfil the responsibility of company directors and to protect the reputation of the company itself.

The good news is, that if this risk is managed well, you are also likely to see significant benefits in terms of controlling costs and enhancing efficiency; in short – it makes good business sense

At least one in three fatal crashes and one in four serious injury crashes in Britain involve someone driving for work.

If your business or organisation is based in Essex, you can benefit from FREE support and guidance from industry experts.

The Safer Essex Roads Partnership is offering the services of a Road Safety Specialist to provide advice and support to local businesses and organisations. This bespoke service will address your specific needs, whether that be an independent health check of your policies, or workshops for managers and drivers. Full confidentiality is assured throughout the process.

Much of the work will take place flexibly on web platforms or face to face if the situation allows. A short initial consultation will help you identify what level of support would benefit your business and timescales for delivery can be agreed.
